In Sept 2012, I was contacted by telephone by John Keller and Bill Richard, who were to be my sponsors in a nutrition and skin care company called Jeunesse Global. Within a few days I met John Keller in person. I was told by both about this fantastic ground floor opportunity to make riches in this company that was changing thousands of people's lives across the globe. They told me that they would help me every step of the way in this endeavor and that all I had to do was buy a package of these "wonderful" products to share with others and after these people experienced the benefits of these products they would want to purchase them and then get their friends and families to purchase as well.

They told me if I bought the biggest package available, I would make the most money. So I did just that, I bought the so-called Ambassador Package. At first it sounded too good to be true, but they both told me if it didn't work out I could return my unused product for a full refund of my purchase price. However, it dawned on me that every time I shared and used the products, I was giving away money. Again they both assured me that I was doing the right things and would be successful in this business. About two months later, I came to find out that Richards was no longer with the company.

Meanwhile Keller was telling me that I would be making a minimum of $3000 per month by Thanksgiving and when that came and went, it would be by the first of the year, then by March and when I started questioning him on it he became agitated. As time went on, he became harder and harder to contact and he seemed to be drifting away from the company. Now I could see what was happening, the products never really worked, the money making opportunity was a dream and everybody was lying and making false claims at the expense of the people they brought into the business. It was a classic Ponzi scheme and if you didn't lie to get more people to invest, you had no chance of making any money or even making back your investment.

I called Jeunesse Global to return my unused and unopened products and was told that since I had purchased a package of products and had used and given away some of them I could not return any unused and unopened products. Once again, I was lied to about a guaranteed return. Please help me get my money back as I still have over $500 of product that they won't give me a refund for. Thank you.
