Zeal Wellness February 23

Condition #3 that Zeal Wellness may possibly help: Alzheimer's/dementia and Parkinson's Disease. Hmmm, those are a couple of heavy hitters to be throwing a daily nutrition supplement at, don't you think? Yes, but I'm going to have you add in the EHT supplement from Nerium International to help out as well. Oh, okay, well that makes sense then. Come on Doc, these are brain related conditions and some really nasty conditions to boot, and like I said before, that's a pretty big chunk of "nasty" to be throwing nutritional supplements at, isn't it? Again, yes, yes it is. Here's the thing though, why not throw nutrition at problems like these, as I've mentioned many times before, the word disease can be broken down into 2 parts, "dis", and "ease". All dis-ease means is that there is a "lack of" ease of the body, or a lack of function if you will. Basically, something is going on that is causing your body to not work or function properly. And guess what, if you are not getting the right nutrition, in the right amounts, each and every day, your body is not going to work or function properly. It really is just that simple. Let's take Scurvy for instance. That was a really nasty disease in its day, and all it was caused by was not getting enough of the Vitamin C complex in the daily diet. That's all it was, just a missing Vitamin C complex caused a really nasty death for a lot of sailors back in the day. So yes, really good nutrition at nasty diseases and problems like Alzheimer's/dementia and Parkinson's, cancers, and diabetes, and whatever, is a really good idea. So Doc, help me out here and connect the dots between Zeal Wellness and the EHT supplement and how they can possibly help to improve a condition like Alzheimer's/dementia or Parkinson's. Here is the answer: our body needs a complete array of certain nutrients each and every day to function properly. Our bodies are like a chemical power plant and a manufacturing plant all rolled into one. If one thing, even a tiny, small, insignificant sounding trace mineral like iodine, or copper, or zinc for example is missing from our diet, then certain problems are going to occur which will eventually lead to the breakdown of certain functions, and then more functions, and so forth, and so on. Zeal Wellness helps with improving the function of "all" systems of the body by supplementing your diet with nutrition that it needs on a daily basis. Zeal also helps improve function by supplying certain nutrition that aids your body in the ability to decrease and/or eliminate inflammation in all the cells in the body. Inflammation in any cell/organ/body system may cause the cell/organ/body system to function poorly, which as in the case of insufficient/lack of nutrients, may cause a whole host of problems to develop as well. Zeal helps with improving the detoxification system of the body too which helps to get rid of toxins, chemicals, heavy metals, and all around nasty crap that doesn't belong in the body that can cause problems anywhere and everywhere. Then there is the EHT nutritional supplement, which was developed by some doctors at Princeton University to help with improving brain health by helping to preserve the TAO protein of neurons. Yeah, long story short version, it's showing some really good signs to help improve brain function. Pretty cool stuff!! Zeal Wellness helps with eliminating inflammation. Zeal helps supplement the body with nutrition that's needed. Zeal helps improve the detoxification system of the body. EHT and Zeal helps with improving the function of the nervous system. Alzheimer's/dementia and Parkinson's are problems found in the brain, which is part of your nervous system. They, just like all dis-eases, are caused in part by inflammation issues. And lastly, Zeal helps with improving the detoxification system of your body which helps clear out the crap that causes all kinds of problems, like cleaning out excess aluminum that some feel may be somewhat associated with Alzheimer's. There is obviously more to this story, but there's a lot of brain numbing neurology associated with explaining Alzheimer's/dementia and Parkinson's, so why don't we leave it at this for the moment and hopefully you get the gist of what I'm trying to say here. Well Doc, if every dis-ease out there is caused by inflammation and the lack of certain key nutrients, then wouldn't it be safe to say that combining the Zeal Wellness and EHT nutritional supplements together could theoretically help improve and/or potentially help to heal up and get rid of any and all dis-eases that one could possibly get? Well, in a very generalized and simplified answer, potentially yes. When you give the body what it needs to function at an optimal level, and your body has the ability to get rid of the inflammation in all of its cells, then anything and everything is possible. The only truly way to know if Zeal and/or EHT will work for your specific problem is to try taking it for a while. How long? A minimum of 3 months to about 12 months is a good time frame. Everyone is different, everyone heals up at different speeds, every cell heals up at different speeds too, and every given health situation is different, so give your body the chance to heal up properly and take the nutrition for several months to a year. Alzheimer's/dementia and Parkinson's are some of the biggest, nastiest, scariest conditions to get diagnosed with, so to me, having another option that can potentially help out is worth trying for several months or more. Changing and improving your diet and lifestyle choices are also good things to do, so go back through some of my past posts and read about other things that you can do to help out as well. Get with the person who shared this post with you or go to the "shop now" icon at the top of this post to order the Zeal Wellness nutritional supplement. Go to www.wellness42.nerium.com to order the EHT supplement. Never underestimate the power of good nutrition, because unfortunately, we tend to overlook that way too much in today's world.
