I never thought I would be writing this, in fact, there was a time where I wouldn't even think about trying a health product because they never deliver what you expect. Hey, I'm a true skeptic, and the only way I would accept that something works is by trying it, and it had better be noticeable.

Over the years I've tried just about all the so called miracle products out there claiming to cure just about everything. I have been a teacher for the past 28 years and spend my days standing on concrete, my legs would ache so bad that I could hardly do anything else. Also the past 3 years I had developed a severe case of acid reflux that would scare the heck out of me almost on a weekly basis. The acid reflux became so bad that the only way I could sleep through the night without fear was to go on medication, and I must note, I hate taking anything including aspirin.

My best friend showed up one day a few months ago all excited about this PXP product, he told me he was getting tired hearing about all my health problems and I should give this product a try. Well that product sat on my counter for well over a month, and the reason being was that he was always the one having me try all these miracle products, so naturally I thought oh god here we go again, another substance to heal me. Every time he came over he would look at the product sitting on my counter, full, and state " what the heck, you haven't tried this yet " in fact I got so sick and tired of hearing him that I thought ok, I'll take this stuff and get him off my back because it won't work anyway. So I started taking this PXP stuff and sat by waiting for this miracle substance to rid me of all my aches and pains...in fact the first week on the product I felt terrible, my stomach was upset, I wasn't sleeping particularly well and I had just about written this off. I called him after the first week complaining that this stuff was making me ill, he told me I was detoxing and to take it until the bottle was gone. I thought ok I know this stuff wasn't cheap for him to just give me so I give it a try and get him off my back after 3 weeks I noticed, my legs didn't hurt anymore and I noticed that my stomach acid wasn't so severe so, I decided to stop taking all my reflux medication and see what would happen, well, I am off the medication and haven't had a problem since. I sleep better , my energy level has skyrocketed and my leg pain was gone.

My best friend showed up and when I told him what had happened to me he just smiled "I told you so and now I'll stop riding you...want to get in the business? The rest is history, you see that best friend I've been telling you about is my brother.
