Unknown pain and aches may be caused by the lack of Negative Ion in our bodies.

You have not to forget to worry about taking vitamin supplements everyday but you must pay attention to the expiry date of the health food products and perhaps it's not cheap.

According to the research done by Japanese scientists, the amount of positive ions versus negative ions in new-born babies are 20 percent to 80 percent. This is believed to be the best ratio for all human beings. However, as the years go by, as well as environmental changes, pollution, harmful chemicals, electromagnetic waves; negative ions in our body start to decrease and the positive ions start to increase in the body. This causes the blood to be more coagulated in our body, making our blood more acidic in nature. The absorption of nutrients and release of waste material is less efficient, causing our metabolism to slow down. Our body functions start to slow down. The negative ion depletion is the reason why there are so many mental & physical health problems. How long do we have these problems plague with us? How much do you and your family worry about due to this health problem?
