COLLOIDAL SILVER, MALARIA & WEST NILE VIRUS

Dear Health Enthusiast,

Malaria and the West Nile Virus Connection

"Malaria is one of the most deadly diseases in the world, with more people killed from this infectious disease annually except for AIDS and tuberculosis. An estimated 400 million people are infected with malaria every year leading to 1-3 million deaths."

Even though the many countries, United States included, have all but eliminated the disease, it still "...persists in Central and South America, Africa, and Asia." For those unfamiliar with the work of Dr. Pedersen, malaria remains a seemingly incurable disease. It has become more and more difficult to treat because the "resistance to antimalaria drugs has spread rapidly across the globe and the most common drug, chloroquine, is no longer effective in most of the endemic areas."

There appears to be some similarities between Malaria and the West Nile Virus which has emerged as a serious health threat in the United States. Visit the following link to see a map of areas in the United States where West Nile Virus has been treated.
