convenient how you say FDA cleared which means nothing hoping people confuse that with FDA Approved

Reliefband

Hi Kelci, we don't want to confuse anyone! As a class II medical device, the Reliefband is not eligible for "approval," but is instead subject to a review process that involves a premarket notification submission, or 510(k). Essentially, our FDA clearance means that the Reliefband has been evaluated by the FDA and found to be substantially equivalent to another legally marketed medical device in terms of scope, safety, and efficacy. the most important takeaway is that the product is completely safe for use. Please let us know if you have further questions 😊
